Expansion of family room and eating space. Added full bath and children's bedroom.

About the Project

Willow Building Company along with architect Keith Fineberg designed and built the addition to this Polo Fields home. The addition houses an expanded eating area, family room, and a first floor bedroom and bath. Previously the existing spaces were confining and dark. A massive corner fireplace further compromised the space. Six feet was added to the eating area and family room. New window configurations and skylights bring these rooms to life. The fireplace was relocated allowing for built-in book shelves and an entertainment center. The bedroom and bath is artfully tucked in beside the family room.
